2 OUT + 2 'I HEAR A RHAPSODY'

Pax (Paul) Andrews is one of those elegant saxophonists with virtuosic skill and outstanding musicality. His life and music have been intrinsically linked and this performance will explore this through narrative excerpts - from his National Jazz Writing Award-winning book, 2009, along with readings from his printed essays. Also featuring Steve Elkins on piano, Phil Waldron on bass, Toby Anning on drums, Sam Graham on trumpet and Bazil Psanoudakis on turntable.

ASANTE WITH THE BURUNDIAN CHILDREN'S CHOIR

A recent highlight of the Fairbridge Festival, Richard Niyoyankuze's band Asante performs with The Burundian Children's Choir. Born in Burundi, Richard has been writing, performing and recording his own music since arriving in Perth in 2006. His lyrics are an antidote to war and the refugee experience. This original music blends familiar African rhythms with a contemporary feel. The voices of the children provide a window into the culture and the land they have left behind.

ROSE ERTLER BOOK LAUNCH

WHAT DO UKULELE PLAYERS EAT?

Sunday 11 July, 6pm

Last year, Rose Turtle Ertler decided to combine two of her favourite things - ukuleles and cooking. She emailed over 80 ukulele players all around the world, 25 of whom swiftly replied with their favourite culinary dish. The result is a little book with a variety of excellent recipes and information about the contributors. Food samples provided at the launch, why not stick around for her show afterwards?
